Fund Research opinion (February 2013)

Securities & Investment Company (SICO) is a Bahrain-based investment bank involved in capital market activities across the GCC region. SICO Asset Management is headed by Shakeel Sarwar, who joined the group in December 2004 having worked previously for Riyad Bank in Saudi Arabia and ABN AMRO in both Pakistan and London.

Unlike many of his peers, Sarwar has been able to build an investment team that has grown steadily with relatively modest staff turnover. He has two fund managers, Naveed Ahmed and Faisal Jiwani, each with over nine years' experience, to help him set the investment strategy; and six analysts with an average experience also of nine years, each with sector responsibilities and reporting to Malik Zahir, the head of research. Broker input is a secondary resource.

Three of the six analysts were hired during the last couple of years mainly to analyse uncovered mid-cap stocks in Saudi, as well as help expand coverage across the region. This proved particularly important during the second half of last year, when the team became negative on large-cap financials and was able to take on more mid-cap exposure quickly without compromising on detailed research.

As the team's fund moved down the capitalisation curve, greater emphasis was placed on daily trading volumes and the sizing of positions according to each stock's relative liquidity, as well as its growth potential.

Investment strategy is set on a weekly basis by the fund managers. During this meeting, markets, countries and stock views are discussed after which model allocations are produced. Positions can be tweaked, in terms of timing and degree, by the individual portfolio managers. On a day-to-day basis, this fund remains in the capable hands of Jiwani, overseen by Sarwar and supported by the team.

Launched in February 2011, this Bahrain-domiciled fund invests solely in Saudi Arabian equities and targets outperformance of the Tadawul index. Although based outside Saudi Arabia, it is managed from within the region and can therefore invest directly in listed securities.

Stock selection is bottom-up, largely index-agnostic and focused on companies that have been temporarily undervalued by the market but exhibit strong earnings growth potential. Company visits are seen as an important part of the research process.

Portfolio construction and positioning is driven by conviction with an eye on the benchmark. Most holdings will never go above 10%, and while the mandate allows positions of up to 20% in the largest index constituents, such occasions are rare, and the fund will only take a neutral stance to avoid a concentration of stock-specific risk.

Although the fund is still young, initial performance has been solid relative to the benchmark, and this is backed by a solid track record on the strategy that dates back to June 2009. Performance success in 2012 was driven largely by stock selection in the materials, financials and healthcare sectors, the tactical move to reduce large-cap exposure for more mid-cap coverage and raising cash ahead of the sharp fall in the Saudi equity market.

Continuing outperformance relative to its peers from a strong and growing team allows the fund to comfortably retain its S&P Capital IQ Silver grading.

SICO Kingdom Equity Fund

Management style

This conventional fund is run as a highly focused portfolio of 20-25 holdings targeting outperformance of the Saudi Arabian Tadawul index. Portfolio construction is primarily bottom-up, focusing on company fundamentals.

The universe of listed Saudi equities is screened initially on liquidity concerns, removing companies capitalised at under $200m and with an average daily trading level of under $250,000. The resulting names represent between 85% and 90% of the country's market capitalisation. These companies are then researched in depth, focusing on companies with sound fundamentals in terms of sustainable earnings and dividends, reasonable or low valuations and, where required, a catalyst for change.

Individual position sizes reflect liquidity and conviction. Holdings above 5% must trade an average of at least $1m a day and even these are unlikely to account for more than 10% of total portfolio assets, except in the case of the largest index constituents, which have a 20% absolute upper limit.

Stocks are sold on reaching their target price, failing to rise to expectations and possibly breaching clear stop-loss limits, or simply a better idea becoming available. The fund is priced weekly. Cash may reach 100% for a maximum of six months in extreme circumstances. In normal markets, portfolio turnover averages 50%.

Fund manager & team

Securities & Investment Company (SICO) is a Bahrain-based investment bank involved in capital market activities across the GCC region. SICO Asset Management is headed by Shakeel Sarwar, who over the last eight years has built a team that has grown steadily, seen few departures and is now responsible for $625m spread across six SICO funds, three third-party funds and various discretionary accounts. Further fixed income expertise was added in 2012.

The team comprises three fund managers: Sarwar (17 years' experience), Naveed Ahmed (nine) and Faisal Jiwani (nine). They help set the investment strategy and must follow it on their individual fund responsibilities, although they can tweak it in terms of timing and degree. Research support comes from six analysts (average nine years' experience) each with sector responsibilities: Malik Zahir (head of research), Aneel Kanwer, Waruna Kumarage, Basma Alireza, Rami Jamal and Jehangir Khan. Broker input is a secondary resource.

Shakeel Sarwar - MBA (IBA, Karachi), joined SICO in December 2004 and is head of asset management and responsible for managing SICO funds and several large discretionary managed accounts. His prior experience includes five years at Riyad Bank (Saudi Arabia) and four years with ABN AMRO Securities in both the UK and Pakistan.

Naveed Ahmed - MBA (IBA, Karachi), worked at SICO from 2005 to 2007, then re-joined the company in June 2008. He is responsible for managing several large discretionary managed accounts and supports Sarwar in managing certain SICO funds.

Faisal Jiwani - MBA (Karachi), was a sell-side analyst at Invest Capital (Pakistan) before joining SICO in 2006. He is responsible for overseeing external funds, discretionary portfolios and Islamic mandates. He also supports Sarwar in managing certain SICO funds.

Malik Zahir - CFA & ACMA, joined SICO in 2007 from Amba Research and now heads the research team and covers financials.

Aneel Kanwer - MBA (Karachi University), joined SICO in 2007 with five years' experience with KASB Securities.

Waruna Kumarage - engineering graduate & CFA, has over eight years' experience and joined SICO in 2008 from Amba Research.

Grading Process

To qualify for an interview and potential grading, a fund must have a minimum two-year performance track record (three years for funds-of-hedge-funds). New funds, funds with less than two years' performance record and specialist funds can be analysed and included providing independent verifiable performance data is supplied.

The starting point for a grading is an initial quantitative screen based on performance data obtained from Lipper Inc or elsewhere. For long-only funds, discrete annual performance comparisons are made, as opposed to cumulative returns over a three-year period. Relative performance of funds within each sector is ranked by decile.

This quantitative screen captures approximately the top 20% of funds in each sector, depending on the size of the sector. For funds-of-hedge-funds the screen is based on the fund's risk/reward objective.

Bond gradings

V	Bond fund volatility gradings of V1 to V6 reflect S&P Capital IQ's current opinion of a fund's sensitivity to changing market conditions. A volatility grading evaluates a fund's sensitivity to interest rate movement, credit risk, investment diversification or concentration, liquidity, leverage and other factors. For the V1 to V4 categories, risk is considered relative to a portfolio composed of government securities denominated in the base currency of the fund.

Absolute return gradings

N	The N grading is S&P Capital IQ's indication of a fund's potential capital stability in normal markets. It is a qualitative grading but is based on annualised weekly downside deviation. N1 is the most stable, and N9 the least stable grading.
